

Boston Prachar Tour Report-

March 2017

Thank you HH Mata Savinder Hardev ji and Dr. Rai ji for your guidance in arranging this prachar tour.

Recently, we were blessed by several families during Boston prachar tour: Saints Rev. Tushar ji, Rev. Datta ji, Rev Sunil ji, Rev Sandeep ji and families from Pennsylvania, Albany NY and New Jersey. They reached metro-Boston area on Thursday late night/Friday in Watertown at Rev Kapil ji/Padmaja ji's residence and spent time sharing their SNM experiences.

Most of Saturday afternoon was spent having lunch with saints at Rev Tyagi ji's house in Brookline, followed by an open discussion in which Tushar ji and Datta ji shared their thoughts on topics like 'how to describe this mission to others' and 'dealing with hypocrisy'. Almost 23-25 saints participated in the open discussion.

Saints described the mission as "A spiritual institution which aims for universal brotherhood and believes in attaining oneness & harmony. This can be done by loving God and staying connected to him by first knowing this Nirankar".

About hypocrisy, saints went on explaining that "pointing out hypocrisy in others in turn means that at some level you are judging them. If you were to point out bad things in someone, the list wouldn't end, but you should rather start looking at their good points." This discussion resulted in many new positive perspectives, through which everything around us should be viewed.

Next stop for evening tea and welcome sangat was at Rev. Kiran ji's house in Somerville on Saturday evening. Most of the metro-Boston saints plus few new saints joined the congregation and shared their experiences and thoughts about the mission and Nirankar. Several Songs about the glory of God almighty were sung and the environment turned very joyful and blissful. Datta ji shared his vichaar from the stage at the end of this congregation.

Briefly, some of Datta ji's vichaar, "It is not what's on the outside but what's on the inside that determines a person's fate. Focussing on the outer appearance isolates you from this world. Even science shows us that the energy which was present at the time of Big bang is still present and is the same thing that is in the centre of every atom and same throughout this universe."

Furthermore, he stressed that staying humble leads to a better life, "Even trees bend down as they starts bearing fruits and water only flows downwards to reach its destination. To stay in touch with this God almighty, you need to lead a humble life. Having an ego will make you turn a blind eye to your own shortcomings and makes you think that it's the others who are at fault. Even after attaining God knowledge, it is up to me to use it and overcome my ego to lead a humble life. I should concentrate on myself and my own shortcomings and act to improve them. This will happen only through completely surrendering to this Nirankar."

Saints went to Harish Ji and Savita Ji's residence in Assonet for overnight stay and the discussions continued late into Saturday night.

On Sunday, March 12th, the Main Prachar Sangat was held at the Somerset hall which started at 12.00pm EST. Boston SNM branch was blessed with an overwhelming number of saints (~50-55) who joined us for the congregation.

Almost all saints from Boston and few families from adjoining states like Connecticut also attended the Sunday congregation and shared their individual experiences about spirituality and thoughts about Nirankar. A great family-like atmosphere was observed during and after congregation. Beside speeches, several Hymns of Her holiness were also sung and the atmosphere was nothing less than euphoria.

A Publication desk was also set up and saints participated and exchanged their experience about SNM literature etc. Inspired by this, we are now thinking to set up a monthly SNM display of literature and other materials.

Finally, Rev Tushar ji blessed all of us from the stage and few of his Vichars shared herein-“Life is short and there is insecurity and instability everywhere, from the atoms to the rotation of this earth. But, everyone is in search of stability, which Sadguru has shown us, lies within Nirankar. The more we are connected to it, the more we feel stable. Quoting Mahatma Gandhi “The observer becomes the observed”, the more we feel Nirankar’s presence the more we come close with it.”

“We see distinct things where in the outer world everyone looks at things in their own perspective and on the other hand, in this mission by Sadguru’s blessing we see saints care for others before acting, think over every decision whether it will affect others in a bad way. The master wants us to learn to bow before others, even when you are more powerful than them. This quality of tolerance, is what Shehenshah ji mentioned in presumably the second Maharashtra Samagam.”
Also, Baba Hardev Singh ji said, “The pain of discipline is better than pain of regret”. Think before acting, as it is much easier than regretting the action later.”

He ended his vichar by quoting Raj Mata ji,

“Sukh saare duniya de paade mere jhooli vich Phir bhi milaae rakhna santa de toli vich”

The congregation ended with great harmony and everyone participating in langar in the company of other saints.

Boston youth took the lead and contributed heavily in making this prachar tour a great success.

May HH Satguru Mata ji bless all of us for her grace, love and kindness always.
